WELCOME TO CDS ENERGY SERVICES

CDS was formed by experienced offshore construction engineers and welding technicians to service the emerging requirements for the fabrication of high pressure pipework in specialist exotic alloy materials.

Since its inception in the mid-1990s, the last two decades have seen services expand, the company rebrand to CDS Energy Services and diversification to meet the challenges and support requirements of brownfield resource holders in over 26 countries.

In 2011, CDS commissioned the construction of a new complex located on the north east coast of the UK, comprising specialist workshops, training facilities and purpose-built offices to support its growth and diversification within the UK and Europe. Now trading as CDS Energy Services, the company's development of end-to-end brownfield modification services has been readily taken up by an increasing number of brownfield resource holders seeking to prolong asset life and contain costs.

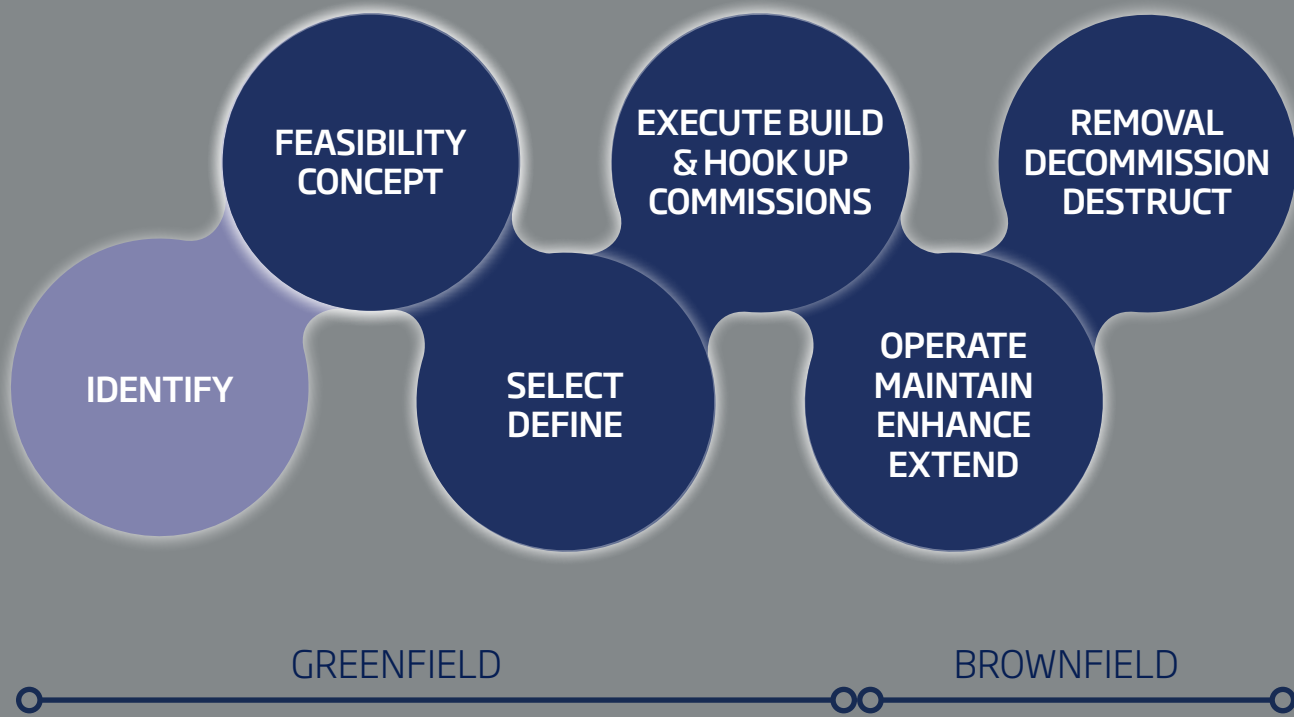

A WORLD OF INNOVATIVE SOLUTIONS...

Delivering:

- Value focus (providing solutions of choice)
- Clearer and simpler client interfaces (single point supply chain accountability)
- Relationships (long-term sharing of responsibilities)
- Quality fit for purpose (meeting the need without gold plating and no re-work)
- Cost effective (flexibility in project scale)
- Safe operations assurance (managing risk through to ready to operate)
